Archeologist believes underwater city is located near Chandeleur Islands

By RICH ADAMS
A Baton Rouge, La. man who says he has discovered an underwater city which may date back 15,000 years off the Chandeleur Islands has appealed to the National Space Technology Laboratories Diving Club for equipment and manpower to verify the find.
George L. Gele, an architect and planner for Louisiana State University who works with that state's Department of Urban and Community Affairs, Thursday told the NSTL Diving Club he has discovered some 40 or 50 structures buried in the sand and silt near the Chandeleur Islands off the Mississippi Sound.
Gele, who became interested in ancient archeology in 1966 during a trip to Mexico, has known about the submerged structures for seven years, but weekend excursions to the site have produced no concrete evidence showing an underwater city exists.

Gele said Thursday work by the Soviet Union and a group of people in Wisconsin indicate religious sites worldwide run in a "network," forming an aligned geographical sequence around the world.
Working on the mathematical assumption that an ancient city should exist somewhere in the Mississippi Sound, Gele and his fellow modern-day adventurers began a search in the area near the Chandeleur Islands where, theoretically, the city should be located.
After studying Landsat infrared photographs of the area, Gele discovered a spot on satellite photographs which indicated a dark mass located near the islands.
The site at which the archeologist believes the city is located is 120 degrees from the Giza Pyramids in Egypt on the same latitude, and directly opposite on the Earth from Lassa, Tibet, the most important religious city in that country, according to Gele.
"This furthers the belief that the major religious centers are equally distributed around the world," Gele told the divers.
The Baton Rouge archeologist said, depending upon which layer of sea bottom the structures are sitting, the city may date back to the Ice Age some 15,000 years ago.
"If the foundations are resting on the Pleistocene Sand of the Ice Age, the structures may date back 15,000

Bay school board member refutes censorship claims

By RICH ADAMS
In a deposition filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Biloxi, North Bay Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization President Lana Noonan repeats allegations of intimidation and deprivation of rights by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board and Superintendent J.D. McCulloch.
Submitted by Board Attorney Lucien Gex of Waveland, the document is the latest to be filed in connection with a $20,000 damage suit brought last year by the PTO and Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers.

Also recently filed with the court is an "Affidavit in Opposition to Plaintiffs Motion for Partial Summary Judgement," in which Board Secretary Walter F. Turcotte Jr. cites examples from board minutes when representative of organizations addressed the board, contradicting plaintiffs' allegations they have been refused a place on the board's agenda.
The affidavit is accompanied by reproductions of 10 pages from school board minute books dating from April 11, 1977 to March 22, 1979.
In his affidavit, Turcotte states: "That since April 11, 1977, Lana Noonan and Andrews M. Wilkinson (Bay AFT Local president) have appeared before the Board and expressed their views on wages, hours and working conditions as shown on the attached extract minutes; "That other individual teachers and representatives of organizations have appeared before said Board and expressed their views on wage, hours and working conditions of teachers...; "That Lana Noonan has been permitted to inspect official documents of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District and has been the recipient of copies of numerous School Board documents; and "That during (Turcotte's) tenure in office, all regular and special meetings of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District have been open to the public."
The minutes listed as Exhibits A1 through A10, the following instances are underlined:
—April 11, 1977: Wilkinson addressed the board on behalf of the AFT; —March 13, 1978: Noonan, appearing as a school patron, discussed with the board the issue of air conditioning North Bay Elementary classrooms; —No date on the reproduction: Judy McCormick appeared before the board to complain of conditions at North Bay and Wilkinson, as a spokesman for the AFT, addressed the board in reference

Two killed, two hurt in car-truck collision

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Two teenagers were killed instantly and two men were injured about 1 a.m. Saturday in a two-vehicle, head-on collision on Hwy. 603 one-half mile south of Firetower Road and north of Kiln.
Connie Favre, 18, of Route 1, Box 86, Long Beach and Melinda Major, 18, of Route 5, 113 Pine Drive, Gulfport, both died instantly from multiple injuries sustained in the accident, State Highway Patrolman Hershel O. Ladner reported later Saturday morning.
Favre and Major were traveling south on Hwy. 603 in a yellow Toyota Celica when they struck a northbound black Ford pickup truck head-on in the middle of the highway about 1 a.m. Saturday, Ladner explained.
Steve M. Curet, 20, of Kiln, driver of the truck, sustained pulled muscles in his neck and back and cuts and abrasions on his arms. David L. (Chip) Lee, 18, of the Leetown Community, a passenger in the truck, received cuts to his face and hands, bruises, abrasions and possible internal injuries. Both men were transported by Mobile Medic to Hancock General Hospital, Ladner said.
Curet was treated and released from Hancock General Hospital. Lee was treated at Hancock General also, and was transferred later to Memorial Hospital in Gulfport, by Mobile Medic, Ladner added.

Dog, goat controversy brewing in Lakeshore

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The other side of a story about dogs killing goats which surfaced at last week's Hancock County Board of Supervisors meeting was revealed Friday in Lakeshore.

Mrs. Ollie Seay said she has contended for more than ten years with Lawrence Carco's goats destroying vegetation on her property.
Carco, one of Mrs. Seay's neighbors in Lakeshore, appeared before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday complaining of dogs killing his goats.
The supervisors directed its attorney to draft a resolution asking State Representative J.P. Compretta to support legislation dealing with dogs running loose in the county.
In several areas on the Seay property, goat droppings and tracks were found Friday morning along with two trails dotted with goat tracks.
"Only God knows the problems we've had with goats running loose around here," Mrs. Seay stated Friday morning.
Seay also pointed out how goats completely destroyed her garden of turnips. Only a few small shriveled turnips were left in her garden with some chewed stalks among goat droppings.
"Carco's got a nerve to say what he did when I've put up with what I have with his goats," Seay commented.
"He's let out his goats and let them roam this area for 10 long years. Every year they eat up most of the vegetables in my garden," Mrs. Seay explained.
"I raise just enough vegetables to put up in my freezer each year for me live on," she added.
"Goats are bothering people in BaySide Park and are a nuisance in Lakeshore," Mrs. Seay said.
The Lakeshore woman said some 25 goats roam her property almost daily around 3 p.m. and she's chased the animals off several times.
"I guarantee none of Carco's goats were killed on his property, but I've found several of my dogs shot dead around here, so I don't have dogs anymore," the distraught grandmother reported.
"I think Carco's the law breaker. I say if he wants dogs to be put up he should be made to pen his goats first," Seay stated.
"I bother no one around here, but he's been shooting dogs around here and there never has been anyone to hurt his goats," Mrs. Seay complained.

to spending public funds to defray the cost of school personnel attending the Annual Convention of Teacher Organizations;

—Oct. 9, 1978: Noonan appeared before the board as a school patron to discuss conditions at North Bay;

—Dec. 11, 1978: Noonan, as a school patron, requested of the board copies of Policy 18;

—April 9, 1979: Noonan appeared before the board as a school patron to discuss air conditioning at North Bay. At that same meeting Wilkinson appeared as a representative of the AFT to discuss changes to Policy 18, and Sue Sonier, president of the Bay St. Louis Local, Mississippi Association of Educators, appeared before the board to discuss that organization; and—May 22, 1979: North Bay Teacher Nell Woodall appeared before the board to discuss salary scales for teachers in the system.

In Noonan's deposition, she is questioned extensively by Lucien Gex in reference to her testimony recorded in an interrogatory filed late last year.

Gex asks Noonan about allegations McCullough intimidated teachers and school patrons.

"Your counsel has stated that individual teachers and parents may be subject to reprisal and intimidation if named. Do you have any knowledge as to how non-teaching individuals could be subject to intimidation and reprisal by furnishing their names," Gex asks Noonan.

"We have encountered several cases of intimidation as parents...and we feel that may still be possible," Noonan replies.

Gex then questioned Noonan about a May 29, 1979 PTO meeting at which the PTO voted in favor of filing suit against the board and superintendent.

"Was the vote to (bring the suit against the board) unanimous," Gex queried.

"Yes," responded Noonan.

"About 30 or 40," Noonan said.

"How many were present at this meeting," the attorney asked.

"I can't remember exactly. It was, I imagine, a little under 20 members," Noonan replied.

"How do you determine whether you have a quorum at a meeting of the...PTO," Gex asked.

Noonan refused to answer the question under advice of Plaintiffs' Attorney Gerald Blessey.

Gex then asked Noonan about a savings account called the Air Conditioning Fund, which she said contained $13,000 when she offered the board monetary assistance in purchasing air conditioning units for North Bay Elementary.

Noonan said the money for the fund was raised through various fund-raising activities.

"Isn't it a fact that in one point in time, since April of 1977, the withdrawal from the Air Conditioning Fund required the signature of three persons," Gex asked Noonan.

"I don't know about April of 1977. I couldn't answer that," Noonan said.

"To your knowledge, isn't it a fact that at one time (former North Bay Principal) Billy Sills, Linda Parish, and a Mrs. Freeman's signatures were required to withdraw funds from the Air Conditioning Account," Gex queried.

"No...I am not aware of that," Noonan replied.

"Who is currently authorized to withdraw funds from the...Account," Gex continued.

"(PTO Treasurer) Yvonne Raphael and I," Noonan stated.

Noonan then said Raphael furnished the bank with a signature card to withdraw money from the account.

"Since April of 1977, have there been any withdrawals from the...Fund," Gex asked.

"Yes," Noonan said.

"Have these withdrawals been for purposes other than air conditioning for North Bay Elementary School," the attorney asked.

Noonan told Gex she had been authorized at a PTO meeting to remove the ceiling on attorney's fees to "cover whatever fees are necessary for litigations, consultations, etc..."

"That particular paragraph (of PTO minutes)...does not authorize you to make withdrawals from the Air Conditioning Fund, does it," Gex questioned.

"Well, if you want to split hairs, I imagine you could do that, but as president, the organization always did authorize my by consensus to handle any expenditures along with the treasurer for various things we had done for the school. It also did not authorize me not to do it," Noonan replied.

Noonan said she and the treasurer had taken money, $10 to $15 each month, from the account to offer a door prize to the teacher with the greatest number of parents in attendance at a PTO meeting.

She added some $200 had been removed to purchase fans for the classrooms.

Later during questioning Noonan told Gex some $2,000 for attorney fees "may well have been" removed from the fund on Oct. 5, 1979.

"Is it correct there is a $6,530 balance in the Air Conditioning Account at this time," Gex asked.

"I do not know the true and accurate balance of the Air Conditioning Account at this time," Noonan responded.

Gex then questioned Noonan about what she claims is her first encounter with the board's controversial Policy 18, which set a 'chain-of command' for persons to follow in order to obtain a slot on the agenda.

"The first time we applied for a place on the agenda...there was no application form, or at least we were not given one. It was simply a conversation with the Superintendent, and he would say 'what do you want to ask the Board,' and we would tell him the things we felt needed to be brought to (the board's) attention," Noonan said.

"In September of 1978...I mentioned a theft at the school, and (McCullough) said he would rather I did not ask about that...and he told me my list would have to stop at four items," Noonan continued.

"I didn't object until he told me he would rather I did not ask about the theft, and I asked him why, and he just said it would be handled..." she told the attorney.

"However, I did agree he did not have to include it on my list, but I did ask the board that night at the meeting because I felt like I wanted to talk to them about (the theft)," Noonan added.

"In other words, you told Mr. McCullough you would not bring this question up, but you subsequently did; is that right," Gex queried.

"That's right...I did it without Mr. McCullough's consent, you might say. He was just prepared for me to ask the questions that he wanted me to ask. I did not ask that question with Mr. McCullough's consent or preparation," Noonan replied.

Gex questioned Noonan about an offer of $13,000 the PTO made to the board to assist in purchasing air conditioning, an offer the board never answered or acknowledged, Noonan claims.

"How long were you on the floor that night," Gex asked.

"I don't recall...it couldn't have been long, seven or eight minutes at the most. There was no response from the board, except from one member," Noonan replied.

"(Former Board Member) Bob Hamilton...remarked that he hoped I would be that interested (in offering money) when he was ready to pass a bond issue," Noonan added.

"Isn't it a fact the board responded to your request and passed a motion to have a cost analysis made for air conditioning at North Bay," Gex questioned.

"Only on the recommendation by (School Architect) Fred Wagner, who was in the audience and raised his hand when I sat down. I remember him standing up and saying, 'I am not here tonight for this purpose, but I think this is a group of parents...very interested in their children and would like to see something done.' He suggested the Board have Mr. Picairn come in and give an estimate...the Board did act on that," Noonan said.

Noonan said the PTO had agreed to pay half of the cost of Picairn's estimate, but added Picairn absorbed the PTO's part of the bill.

"I got a letter from Mr. Picairn saying that he had just billed the Board for their half of the study and to let the PTO know that he would absorb our cost of the study for us...we would not be obligated for it. And he stated in his letter that he wanted to evidence that he fully understood our plight and he would back the PTO in every respect in trying to make an improvement on the school," Noonan told Gex.

"Now I did call him and said...it was a deal and we'll be happy to come up with our half of the cost, but he said no, that he would go ahead and absorb our cost," she added.

"So your statement that the Board did not take any action on your request is incorrect," Gex asked.

"No...they took action on a request of Mr. Wagner," Noonan responded.

Gex then said Picairn's estimate for air conditioning at the school was $119,000 for classrooms and $23,000 for the cafeteria and kitchen.

"Do you recall the Board Members stating the system had insufficient funds to pay for air conditioning," Gex asked.

"Yes... (Board President Virginia) Gex turned to me and said, 'at this time the funds are budgeted and there is nothing we can do for you at this time...but if you would like to come to the July...budget meeting and perhaps at that time we can look into the matter,'" Noonan said.

Noonan said there was no discussion at the July or August meeting concerning the budget.

Ms. Faye Johnson, administrative supervisor at GMH, said late Saturday Lee was in stable condition with extent of injuries still undetermined.

The patrolman said no charges have been filed pending completion of his accident investigation, but added, "light misty rain and fog were contributing factors in the accident."

"The bodies of the two women were pinned in the vehicle and had to be freed by Don San Filippo and Richard Pate of the Diamondhead Fire Department using the Jaws of Life," Ladner explained.

The bodies of the two women were transported to Edmund Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, and Majors' body has been transferred to Riemann Funeral Home in the Orange Grove Community, Ladner added.

The Toyota was towed from the accident scene by N.A. (Nancy) Periniario and Son Wrecker Service to Waveland and the truck was towed to Lee's home by Day's Wrecker Service in Bay St. Louis, the patrolman reported.

"Also assisting at the accident scene were Kenny Lott of Kiln, from the I-10 Mobile Vehicle Comptroller Office and Hancock County Sheriff's Department Deputies Lynn Strong, Cliff Dedeaux and Willie Lee," Ladner added.

Obituary notices for Ms. Favre and Ms. Major appear on Page 2A.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Feels like two persons

Q. I am deeply troubled. During certain times I am a good Christian, I love God and I do the right things. I know I should always be that way. However, there are other times when I am rotten. I do dumb things and let Satan run my life. It's like a second personality. I have prayed about it, but I can't seem to stop it. What should I do?

A. You will have to make up your mind between God and Satan. "Choose ye this day whom ye shall serve," says the Bible.

Ask God to make you want to follow Him. Believe that He is stronger than evil, for He is. Every day say these words aloud: "The things which are impossible with men are possible with God." And several times every day repeat this great Scripture: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Don't expect to be perfect. When you stumble or fail, ask God's forgiveness and keep going. This process will build up real power within you so you can tell Satan where to go.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet, Try Faith and Watch What Happens, which is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12563.

Won't help himself

Q. My son is 38 continually gives us a guilt complex because of what he has done with his life. He's a drug and alcohol addict and for the past 10 years has been in and out of hospitals all over the country. He had a good Christian raising and we have done nothing to hurt him except not being able to say "No" when he needed help. We were always there when he cried for money and home care, and I loved helping him, but he won't help himself. He doesn't contact us unless he wants something. What can we do?

A. What you can and should do immediately is to change your soft attitude toward your son. Shut off the money supply. Let him find the going hard for once. It could conceivably make a man of him. He can be cured if he wants to be, but only if he has sufficient desire. When there is no more money from an indulgent mommy and daddy, his desire for cure may be stimulated.

Wants to leave him

Q. I have been married 2½ years and all my husband ever does is put me down. Sometimes he hits me, but then he always makes up afterwards. We now have a baby which he wants no part of. I think he actually hates her. He hits her all the time for no reason and scares her. My parents ask what kind of future I and the baby are going to have. I want to leave him but I still love him. He always talks about how he wishes he was married to some cute girl. What should I do?

A. From this description you have a deeply disturbed husband. Perhaps you are docile enough to let him hit you, but baby-hitting should be stopped at once. Call the Child Abuse agency in your city and ask to talk with someone who can advise you. You also need guidance on how to deal with a husband who physically abuses you. The longer you put up with it the more fixed the pattern may become. The sooner action is taken, the better it will be for everyone, including your husband, who might be helped if confronted with the need to change.

THE CRUCIFIXION OF CHRIST at Calvary is the confluence of history and the hope of mankind.

"This spot to which we have come is the center of all things. Here two eternities meet. The streams of ancient history converge here, and here the river of modern history takes its rise."

"The eyes of patriarchs and prophets strain toward Calvary, and now the eyes of all generations and all races look back to it. This is the end of all roads. The seeker after truth, who has explored the realms of knowledge, comes to Calvary and finds at last that he has reached the center."

"The weary heart of man, that wandered the world over in search of sympathy and love, at last arrived here and finds rest. Think how many souls each Lord's Day, assembled in church and chapel and meeting houses are thinking of Gologotha! How many eyes are turned thither every day from beds of sickness and chambers of death!" - James Stalker.

"And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me," cried the Master. "This he said, signifying what death he should die" - John 12:32-33.

To Nicodemus the Saviour declared: "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness (Numbers 21:4-9), even so must the Son of man be lifted up. That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" - John 3:14-15.

Little wonder the apostle declared to the Corinthians: "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but to us which are saved it is the power of God... But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks (Gentiles) foolishness; But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks (Gentiles), Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God" - I Cor. 1:18-23-24.

"There is a divinely sacred element in the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. There was nothing holy about the cross, nor the place where it was set, nor the fact that crucifixion took place. Multitudes died by crucifixion before and following the crucifixion of Jesus. The divine and sacred element is in Him who was crucified and in the purpose for which He died. God Died upon that cross - in the person of His only begotten Son - to pay the penalty for sin and that all who believe might be saved." - Harold Henderson.

Crucifixion was the worst possible form of execution. The unquenchable thirst; intolerable loneliness; the agonizing pains of death; the conscious torment, was indescribable.

Crucifixion was a sign that the victim was accused of God - Gal. 3:13. Jesus was crucified, being made a curse for us, to redeem us from the curse of sin. He was nailed to the cross at Calvary at nine o'clock - the time of the morning sacrifice among the Jews. He died at three o'clock that afternoon - the time of the slaying of the lamb for the passover. "... Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world," - John 1:29.

In the crucifixion at Calvary, Christ was made to be sin for me (II Cor. 5:21). He became my sacrifice acceptable to God; His shed blood atoned for my sins; Divine justice was completely satisfied; mercy and pardon for all believing sinners was assured.

"Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other" - Psalms 85:10.

Fifty-Plus program eyes taboos

Reverend David Ray of Jackson is scheduled to lead a Life Enrichment Workshop entitled, "Dealing With Taboos Tagged To Growing Older" Friday, March 21.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of Mississippi City United Methodist Church, 219 Courthouse Road, in Gulfport.

All retired and middle age adults and younger persons who are interested in vital information about aging are invited to attend the area gathering.

Sponsored by the Gulf Coast members of TOTAL LIVING FOR FIFTY PLUS, a non-profit, non-denominational organization started in Mississippi two years ago to enrich the lives of retired and middle age persons, the program has members throughout the state.

One of the organization's goals this year is to establish 50 new community groups. Programs and activities along the Coast are underway.

In the workshop, Ray uses a narrated, full-color filmstrip developed by FIFTY PLUS.

The topics such as purpose in living, productivity, time lapse, memory, capacity for sexual participation, ability to enjoy new learning experiences, and physical capabilities are discussed.

In addition, the program will include singing, fun and friendship games, FIFTY PLUS Body-Image Exercises, and refreshments.

There is no admission charge.

For further information, contact Mrs. Frances Pennington in Gulfport, 896-7626.

We hope that ten percent increase for truck fees will compensate for the increase in weight passed by the Mississippi Senate this week.

We do not claim to be an expert on Highway construction, but the additional 6,000-plus pounds may just be the straw to 'break the camel's back,' as it were in the destruction of our state highway.

The House still has to pass on this bill and we hope the representatives weigh the issue very carefully.

We feel there should be more respect for the dead than is shown at some cemeteries in Hancock County.

A recent letter to the editor mentioned some of the desecrations which are occurring in the Logtown Cemetery.

We have received numerous reports of vandalism in the various cemeteries throughout the county over the years.

It must take someone of a very low mentality to disturb these final resting places.

Cemeteries are supposed to be sacred grounds, let us all give the dead the respect they deserve.

If anyone of you sees anyone disturbing graves, please notify the police.

May they rest in peace!

Many young ladies in our area this week will be observing Girl Scout Week, most of them opening the observance at special religious services today.

We offer our congratulations during this special week to all youth and adults of this area who are involved in the Girl Scout program.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK—A recent tour by members of Bay Catholic Elementary School Girl Scout Troop 32 of Gulfport Memorial Hospital's laboratory, emergency room and x-ray facilities is typical of a wide variety of year-round activities engaged in by the Girl Scouts of our area who are celebrating Girl Scout Week this week. Setting up the microscope is Mrs. Gigi Davis, left, of the hospital staff. Among participants on the tour are Aleccin Schwabacker, Missy Moran and Suzanne Hille. (Photo courtesy Troop 32)

SOME HOPE—County employee Ronnie Hoda, on the ladder, is handing nails by fellow worker Mike Green as they place no dumping signs on North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis Friday. All types of trash and garbage can be seen in the immediate area of the tree. Roger Dale Ladner, District Three supervisor, said Friday the area will be cleaned once again. The area is completely covered with cans, bottles, household garbage, old furniture, etc. We, like many others enjoy the drive down the beach occasionally to do some fishing and relaxing and sure hope folks will be more careful with their garbage and trash. We all have been forced to live like we are in a 'pig pen' far too long, and it is time for those who do not care about their fellow man to pick up their trash and garbage and take it home with them and properly dispose of it. We really need a few citations issued and stiff fines levied.

location of the city, but each time he gets near finding his 'Atlantis,' weather or other difficulties arise which prevent divers from searching the waters.

"One day we went out on a Saturday, but darkness caused us to cancel for the day. We boated out to the site the next day, but 12 foot waves prevented divers from going in the water," Gele said.

Another time Gele said he had a buoy 20 feet from the center of the magnetic signals, but before divers could descend the boat captain threw the vessel in full reverse and the buoy was sucked into the propellers.

Gele told the divers Thursday he has re-applied for a permit and should receive word of its status "within days."

One of the divers told Gele, "If you find the structures and drop anchors, we will have the divers ready."

"That is what I am here for...looking for bodies," Gele said.

Winter expressed a desire to work with Alcan Aluminum Corporation in securing more plants in the State, commenting, "In looking at a map of your two-country operations, I see one red dot in Bay St. Louis and I would like to see more."

A news conference was held before the dedication by Alcan Cable President S. Bruce Heister and Bay St. Louis Alcan Plant Manager E. Alan McCaslin.

Heister gave a brief history on Alcan's Bay St. Louis plant which started with the leasing of the building in 1974.

The recession of 1975 curtailed Alcan's capital spending programs, according to Heister who said, "I am sure there was some doubt as to Alcan's intentions by area leaders during this delay. However, the cooperation and understanding sustained us through this period until our company could again afford to expand with a reasonable expectation of customer demand."

McCaslin said the plant has 100,000 square feet of building under roof on the 25 acre industrial tract.

Presently the industry has a work force of 47 employees of which the majority are from the immediate area with a yearly payroll of $750,000.

The plant makes 600-volt electrical cable; which is run underground from utility sources to residences.

The plant expects to produce 25 million feet of the aluminum cable a year with the potential of doubling the capacity.

Dear Editor:

I read in a recent Echo where they are debating in Washington to take our food stamps away from the poor people.

Well if they do this terrible thing, Mrs. Rosalyn Carter the First Lady won't need to go overseas to see starving children and people.

She will see them right here in America.

We not only will have starving children, we will also have more crimes and stealing.

Inflation will get worse, as a lot of poor people depend on food stamps.

Ever since I was a little girl I always heard America was the richest place in the world-if inflation keeps on, it will be the poorest.

I love my country, also my flag.
Let's all get together and write to Congress, not only the young will suffer also our old senior citizens.

Cabinet house cleaning might help foreign non-policy

March 4, 1980

The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

This latest gaffe of the Carter administration further indicates the vacillating ineptitude of our so called non-foreign policy.

Lack of communications between Carter, Vance, and McHenry at the U.S. caused us to lose more credibility when the latter voted for a resolution supporting the Arab-Palestinian cause, and then the President retracting said vote to flip-flop for the Israelis.

Why not ask for the resignation of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance? And while the President is at it, I suggest that he also fire Secretary of the Treasury G. William Miller for his involvement according to the SEC in the Textron bribery case, as well as illegal entertainment of military officers; also, Z. Brzezinski, his national security advisor, for his contributions to his confused policy, especially in re the humiliating hostage problems; and last but not least, Paul Volcker, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board for continuing his bankrupting of the American economy and rampaging inflation.

These four might be comparable as the American version of the infamous Chinese "gang of four."

An expert in magnetic surveys told Gele the readings from that area near the island was too strong to be a shipwreck, adding the signal is one of the strongest magnetic anomalies he had ever seen.

Using equipment such as a side scan sonar and a position plotter, Gele and his crew made several surveys of the area and discovered numerous objects, all aligned either north-south or east-west, extending upward from the silt on the sea bottom.

Divers from his ship searched the bottom with compasses, some 20 feet down, but were unable to pinpoint any structure.

With his information, Gele applied for a state permit to conduct archeological studies in the area to confirm his beliefs, a permit which would have made him eligible for state and federal grants for the project.

The Louisiana Archeological Society did not feel Gele had enough information to merit a permit, however, and denied him authority to search the sea bottom.

Now he is running out of personal funds and is finding it difficult to continue his search for the underwater city.

"I find myself in a chicken-or-the-egg situation," Gele told the diving club. "If I don't get a permit, I cannot touch the walls. If I don't get part of the wall as proof, I cannot get a permit," he explained.

He showed a number of photographic slides depicting sonar readings and satellite photographs, explaining that white areas behind the many rectangular and square objects in the photos represented shadows.

He said one of the squares is 10 feet around sticking nine feet out of the silt, a rectangle is 20 feet by 30 feet approximately extending one-half foot from the bottom, and a 'wall' 80 feet long extends some nine feet from the silt.

He also pointed out a number of lines which he believes are stone walls running parallel to each other.

"We believe these are remnants of buildings and walls," Gele said Thursday.

"Dr. David Zinc, author of 'Stones Of Atlantis' and 'Megalithic Stones,' said this is a very important archeological find," he continued.

"This is the strangest image the size of a house," Gele explained, pointing to a large shadow on the movie screen.

"Here we have this 20-foot by 30-foot structure in the middle of nowhere. We intend to map and locate all of these objects," he added.

Gele said with the October, 1979 launching of Magsat, photographs taken of the Chandelure Islands which are presently being studied may present a clearer image of the city.

"Perhaps one of the most significant finds we have discovered in our sonar readings is a pyramidal structure some 30 feet tall," Gele said.

"As crazy as it sounds, we have a city south of here buried in the sound," he told the divers.

"Basically, we need your help. I have talked to a lot of people in the past seven years, and I feel we can approach this from a highly technological viewpoint," he continued.

"I need remote equipment and hand-held sonar for divers," he added. Gele said he has the geometric manufactured in the Bay St. Louis plant, the most cost in the cable produced is in the raw materials, with labor being only a small percentage.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett welcomed the new industry and its managers and employees to the area. The mayor presented an honorary citizenship to Roy Gentles, president of Alcan Aluminum Cooperation and to S. Bruce Heister, president of Alcan Cable.

A tour of the highly automated plant was conducted after the official dedication.

Computers are used throughout the plant to supervise overall plant process control and to alert operators that a problem exists.

Much of the machinery in the plant has been custom-designed by Alcan engineers, making it the most advanced wire machinery in the business, according to McCaslin.

State Powerlift Meet at SSC draws 32

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Some 32 powerlifters from four U.S. Gulf Coast states competed in the St. Stanislaus Mississippi Invitational Power Lift Meet in the Brother Peter Memorial Gym in Bay St. Louis Saturday.

During morning competition 12 lifters competed in various weight divisions in three powerlifts—the squat, two hands bench press and the dead lift.

Kenneth Davis, 18, of Bogalusa placed first in the 123 pound category lifting a total of 964 pounds with Jeff Kergosien, 17, of Bay St. Louis placed second with a total of 843 pounds.

Davey Davis, 18, of Pascagoula placed first in the 132 pound division by lifting a total of 1,168 pounds; Mike Dobbins, 21, of Hattiesburg placed second by lifting a total of 931 pounds; and Mike Blaize, 30, of Bay St. Louis placed third lifting a total of 892 pounds.

Larry Mabie, 32, of Gulfport was the number one 148 pound category lifter with a morning total of 1,279 pounds; John Topsoiglow, 21, of Hurliburt, Fla. placed second with just a few ounces under Mabie's total lift; and Tommy Stillman, 23, of New Orleans placed third with a total of 1,104 pounds.

Competition in the 165 pound category saw Frank Mule, 27, of New Orleans place first with a total lift of 1,445 pounds; Joe Ladnier, 18, of Gautier placed second for a 1,340 pound total; Wayne Patrick, 28, of Pascagoula placed third with a 1,317 total; and Randy Burge, 24, of Poplarville placed fourth with 1,157 pounds.

Saturday afternoon competition saw 20 powerlifters competing in five weight divisions also in the squat lift, the two hands bench press and the dead lift.

Competing in the 181 pound lifting division were Joe Desefano of Gulf Breeze, Fla.; Raymond Kobetz of Baton Rouge; Doc Rhodes of Gulfport; Mark Turner of Pascagoula; Mike McMurray of Pascagoula; and Robert Petty of Mobile. Robert Hughes of Pensacola was the only entry in the 275 pound lifting division.

Alert neighbors aid in Waveland arrests

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Alert neighbors aided police in the arrest of an adult and two juveniles for the alleged burglary of a Nicholson Avenue residence Tuesday, March 4, according to Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn.

SILVER RECOVERY—Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn, right, and Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille review silver and silver plated items recovered after a Tuesday burglary of a Nicholson Avenue residence. Chief Dorn said assistance from three alert Waveland residents led to the recovery of the silver items of undetermined value and apprehension of three suspects. Alvin Nathaniel Bates, 39, 799 Ferguson Avenue, Long Beach, was arrested Wednesday evening and charged with burglary and the receiving of stolen property, according to Tartavouille. A 17-year-old Waveland juvenile was arrested late Tuesday and a 17-year-old Long Beach resident was arrested Wednesday morning, both also charged with burglary and turned over to the Hancock County Youth Court, according to police. Tate was still lodged in the Hancock County Jail Saturday afternoon. Assisting Waveland Police in the case were Long Beach and Kenner, La. Police Departments in addition to Mississippi Highway Patrol Investigator Mickey Ladner. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas).

Police recovered approximately 50 pieces of silver and silver plated items apparently taken in a burglary of the house around noon Tuesday, according to Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille, Waveland police investigator.

Arrested in connection with the burglary were Alvin Nathaniel Bates, 39, 799 Ferguson Avenue, Long Beach, on Wednesday, March 5, about 5:30 p.m.; a 17 year old Waveland juvenile at 7 p.m. Tuesday; and another Long Beach juvenile at 12:30 a.m. Wednesday, police say.

The two juveniles were turned over to the Hancock County Youth Court and released to their parents, according to Tartavouille.

Bates was lodged in the Hancock County Jail without bond pending further investigation and is charged with burglary receiving stolen property, and possibly other charges, the investigator said.

Long Beach police officers Robert Lorimar and Carl Rhodes and Highway Patrol Investigator Mickey Ladner aided Waveland police in the arrests, with additional help from Kenner, La. police.

Police say a resident of Waveland went to the police station and told them they saw someone loading a vehicle with some items from the woods on the beach.

"We knew there was a burglary committed before the owners of the home knew," Tartavouille allowed, adding, "we just did not know the house which was burglarized and started to check them out."

The items allegedly taken were of undetermined value, according to police, with some being family heirlooms.

"We appreciate the cooperation of the neighbors and person who visited the police department in helping us solve this burglary. That is what we need to help solve many crimes and deter the criminals," Chief Dorn reported.

Dorn added, "That is why we have the 911 system, we do not need to know the names of the person calling, just the information."

With the 911 system, a person can reach all types of assistance including Mobile Medic, police departments, and fire departments, by dialing 911.

Other Waveland police involved in the case were Investigator Sandra Henley and officers John Wilkinson and Charles James.

Four youths nabbed in T.G.&Y. robbery

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Four teenagers were arrested about 1:15 a.m. Friday in Waveland's Our Shopping Center parking lot for allegedly stealing some $92 in merchandise from the T.G.&Y. Family Center.

"The four juveniles charged are employed by T.G.&Y.," Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said later Friday morning.

While they were working, cleaning up the store, they were also hauling merchandise out of the back door," Dorn stated.

"Two of the boys are 16 years old and two boys are 17 years old. Of the four arrested, three live in Bay St. Louis and one is from Waveland," Dorn reported.

The Waveland police chief said the $92 haul consisted of a citizen's band radio set, a CB base station, various antennas, several record albums, speakers, rain lamps, baseball hats, sunglasses and candy.

"Officers of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and the Bay St. Louis Police Department assisted the Waveland police in the arrests," Dorn added.

"About 1 a.m. Friday, Bay St. Louis Patrolman Louis Hardy spotted a truck and two cars stopping near the carwash next to the Otasco store," Dorn reported.

"Hardy radioed Waveland patrolman John Wilkinson and advised him of the suspicious activity in the shopping center. After Wilkinson arrived at the scene the officers observed the suspects walking from behind the Otasco store carrying various items," Dorn explained.

Dorn said the four juveniles were arrested and released in the custody of their parents.

"They'll have to report to Youth Court counselors," Dorn added.

Law enforcement personnel involved in the arrest include Patrolman Cris Sands, Investigator Sandra Henley, Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille and Wilkinson, all of Waveland; Hardy; and Capt. Paul Bernard and Deputy Steve Landry of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Controversy...

Mrs. Seay also claims when she did complain about Carco's goats in her garden, she woke up the next morning finding all of her tomato plants pulled out of the ground.

The Lakeshore woman also complained she has had problems with Carco's hogs rooting up her garden.

Hancock County Ranger Lesli Dedeaux of the Standard Community is responsible for enforcing county stock laws, but was unavailable for comment Friday.

Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet of Bay St. Louis Friday confirmed that at Mrs. Seay's request more than a year ago, he confiscated 29 hogs belonging to Carco which had rooted-up the Lakeshore woman's vegetable garden.

"This is a responsibility of local law enforcement officers, but when people call me (for stock law violations) I find out the owner, call him and tell him to lock up the animals or we're going to pick them up and it's going to cost the owner money to get them back," Banderet explained.

"Dedeaux has the equipment to capture, transport and hold livestock," Banderet added.

"People are supposed to keep livestock behind fences and if they mess up a yard, the owners of the livestock have to pay for damages," Banderet stated.

"This is the first time I've heard of any problems with Carco's goats," Banderet added.

District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein also confirmed Friday over a year ago Carco's hogs rooted up Mrs. Seay's vegetable garden and the county ranger confiscated the swine.

"I did go and look at the damage the hogs had done in Seay's garden," Klein said.

"But two years ago some dogs went in Carco's yard and killed 15 goats and killed all the chickens he had," Klein reported.

"Roaming dogs are one of the biggest problems we have in the county," Klein stated.

"I recently prosecuted a man for killing a dog. This is a big problem, there's nothing people can do about these roaming dogs," Klein explained.

"We need some kind of law to control this dog problem... Lawrence (Carco) wasn't lying," Klein added.

"If one these dogs gets rabies and transfers this disease to other dogs, we've got a big problem on our hands," Klein said.

"I get eight or 10 complaints a week about dogs roaming in BaySide Park, Pearlinton, Lakeshore and Shoreline Park. People are afraid to let their children out in their yards because of these dogs," Klein reported.

"I've also recently had calls from people saying dogs have killed their chickens," Klein added.

"The situation is the average citizen doesn't care to kill an animal and if he does it's against the law," Klein explained.

"As far as the goats are concerned this could also be a problem. I've also received reports of another goat herd in the BaySide Park area," Klein reported.

"But we definitely need to do something about dogs running loose in the county," Klein said.

A - Lapsed NSLI term insurance can be reinstated within five years by meeting the health and monetary requirements. You will need a physical examination and, upon making application, you must pay two monthly premiums, one for the month of lapse and one for the month of reinstatement.

Dorn said the four juveniles were arrested and released in the custody of their parents.

"They'll have to report to Youth Court counselors," Dorn added.

Law enforcement personnel involved in the arrest include Patrolman Cris Sands, Investigator Sandra Henley, Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille and Wilkinson, all of Waveland; Hardy; and Capt. Paul Bernard and Deputy Steve Landry of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Applications due for Youth Corps

The March 15th deadline for making applications in the Youth Conservation Corp summer job program is almost here, with many of the camps receiving an insufficient number of applicants. This year the Youth Conservation Corps will employ 487 youths working in 23 camps across the state. The program offers 8 weeks of summer employment in a well-balanced earn-work-learn experience for young people. All camps are coeducational and all youths who have reached their 15th birthday by June 1 and have not yet reached their 19th birthday by August 31 are eligible to participate in the program. Youths interested in applying can get applications from their schools or from the U. S. Forest Service, Suite 1141, Federal Bldg., 100 West Capitol Street, Jackson, MS 39201, or by calling (601) 969-4391. Applications must be received by March 15th.

Mississippi Association of Educators opens annual meet in Jackson Monday

The State's Biggest annual convention gets underway in Jackson Monday when the 15,000-member Mississippi Association of Educators convenes through March 12.

This year's meeting will be the fourth for state teachers and administrators since the black MTA and white MEA merged and formed the MAE in 1976.

President Donald Dick of McComb says Mississippi's two current Miss America will be featured at the first general session Monday afternoon at the Trade Mart Building.

Sharing the spotlight will be featured at the first general session Monday afternoon at the Trade Mart Building.

Sharing the spotlight will be Cheryl Prewitt of Ackerman, as the reigning Miss America, and Veretta Shankle of Jackson State University, the current Miss Black America.

Miss Prewitt, 23-year-old graduate of Mississippi State University, is a concert pianist. Miss Shankle, 21, plays the tenor saxophone, and both of them sing professionally.

The convention will open Monday morning with registration at the Trade Mart on the fairgrounds. The three-day theme will be "Education is a Commitment," and activities will include two general sessions, two delegate assemblies, a human relations banquet, president's reception, political extravaganza and party caucuses, three workshops, legislative forum, 100 commercial exhibits, 36 subject meetings and more than 18 additional functions.

John Adhley, MAE executive secretary, says the Monday afternoon general session will also present the member of the year, make awards to state news media for excellence in educational reporting, hear President Dick's report and introduce the two candidates for president-elect.

They are Janice McAllister of Lucedale and Dr. Lee Napier of Jackson State University.

Speaking at the Human Relations Banquet Monday evening will be F.J. Johnson of Washington, D.C., director of the Teacher Rights Division of the National Education Association. Six awards will be given to individuals and affiliates.

Governor William Winter will address the Tuesday morning.

Two Assemblies Approximately 525 elected delegates from every county in the state will convene for Representative Assembly Tuesday evening and again Wednesday morning at Coliseum Ramada Inn.

They'll adopt resolutions, consider a hike in dues and recommendations from the board of directors, cast a final vote on constitutional amendments, hear committee reports and deal with any business from the floor. Seats will be reserved for visitors.

Pooch of the Week—This healthy, lovable male puppy was found injured on the Waveland beach some two weeks ago, has made a fast recovery, and is currently under the care of a friendly Waveland lady awaiting adoption through the Bay-Waveland Humane Society. For information, call 467-9494. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Welcome Wagon Club sets Thursday meet

Members of the Hancock County Welcome Wagon Club will gather at an officer installation luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the Homestead Restaurant in Bay St. Louis.

The group also plans an April rummage sale to benefit the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

Membership is open to any person who has moved to Hancock County in the past three years.

Meetings are held on the second Thursday of each month at 10:15 a.m. in the conference room of City-County Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis.

The new officers include Kim McCaslin, president; Kim Smith, first vice president; Marge Dobson, second vice president; Ann Whitworth, secretary; Sallie Smith, treasurer; and Dolores Hardy, treasurer.

Florence Caracci (467-6101) and Lillian Millican (467-1572) are handling the luncheon reservations.

Welcome Wagon sponsors include Psalm 97 Bookstore, Servicemaster, Sea Chest Ladies Apparel, Princess Dress Shoppe, Gulf Thrifty Drugs, Edmond Fahey Funeral Home, W. A. McDonald & Sons Furniture, Ellen Kane Gift Shop, General Store Building Supply, Taconi Hardware, Sea Coast Echo, Bob Hubbard Photography, Mailfoto Camera Service, Hi-Speed Copy Center, Mason's Exxon Station, The Eatery Delicatessen and Sonic Drive-In.

American Federation of Teachers opens Mississippi meet Wednesday

Several prominent national and state personalities will be featured when the Sixth Annual Mississippi American Federation of Teachers State Convention opens at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Biloxi Wednesday.

Andrews Wilkinson of Waveland, Bay St. Louis Junior High Teacher and president of the Bay St. Louis Local, AFT, is overall chairman of this year's event.

Robert Porter, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Teachers since 1963, will be featured speaker at a banquet Thursday. Earlier in the day, he will speak on the services available to states and members from AFT.

Nathaniel LaCour, president of the United Teachers of New Orleans and member of the AFT executive council, will be featured in a political activism workshop at 3 p.m. Thursday.

Other AFT leaders who will participate in the convention include Carl Megel, AFT legislative authority, Brenda Pickett, director of the New Orleans Teacher Center, and Dr. Richard Kilmer, author and scholar in professional organizations.

Megel, national AFT representative, and Eugene Didier, director of the AFT Southern Organizing Project, will be the speakers at an awards luncheon Friday.

State AFT leaders and executive board members will conduct workshops and discussions throughout the two-day session. These will cover services to locals, political activism at all levels, public relations, teachers centers, COPE and QUEST.

Representatives from the State Department of Education will be featured in workshops Friday.

Smith Sparks, director, Division of Administration, and Dr. Jimmy Jones, Office of Finance and Evaluation, will conduct workshops on financing education in Mississippi, focusing on current and proposed methods.

Later, Sparks will also lead a workshop on understanding the school budget.

Dr. Ralph Brewer director, Division of Instruction, will explain Mississippi's Educational Accountability program.

Dr. Barbara Massey, Division of Special Education, will focus on Public Law 94-142, programs for the gifted, and special education areas.

Registration for the convention will begin at 4 p.m. Wednesday, and continue from 8-10 a.m. Thursday.

No registration fee is required.

Tickets for the dinner Thursday are $10 and for the luncheon Friday, $5.

Displays and exhibits will be opened from 8-10 a.m. and 11:30-1 p.m. Thursday, and from 8-10 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. to noon Friday.

The convention is opened to the public.

For information or a complete agenda, contact the MAFT State Office, 3501 Hewes Avenue, Gulfport, or call 868-1397.

Lecture scheduled on latent powers

The Gulf Coast Federation of Theosophical Society in America is presenting a free public lecture on "Realizing Our Latent Powers" at 7 p.m. Thursday at the society's New Orleans Study Center, 1136 Esplanade Ave.

"There are powerful forces latent in all of us and by realizing what they are, we can better understand the laws of nature," said Francisco (Bing) Escudero, lecturer.

"The dynamic qualities of our inner nature emerge through relaxation and meditation, allowing these latent powers to become a force in our lives," added Escudero who has lectured widely in the United States, Canada and the Philippines on behalf of the Theosophical Society.

"Escudero reaches out in consciousness to each individual and brings a simplified understanding so that everyday living can have a meaningful relevance," said Ms. Katie Dreher, Study Center secretary.

"Esplanade Avenue is well lighted and there is ample parking space at the Study Center," Ms. Dreher said in extending an invitation to Hancock County residents to Escudero's lecture.

Further information may be obtained by calling Ms. Dreher at 504-522-6540.

Corrections

Registration for square dance lessons at St. Ann's Parish Hall in Clermont Harbor is set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The classes, sponsored by Sand dollar Square Dance Club, will continue weekly for some 26 weeks, rather than for two weeks as previously reported in the Sea Coast Echo.

The Sea Coast Echo apologizes for these errors.

News Briefs

INGALLS CONTRACTS

Ingalls Shipbuilding Division of Litton Industries will build two new offshore mobile drilling rigs for Transworld Drilling Company. The construction contract was announced by Paul D. Romano, president of Transworld, a subsidiary of Kerr-McGee Corporation and Lenn Erb, senior vice-president of Litton Industries and president of Ingalls Shipbuilding. The construction of these new rigs follows the announcement three weeks ago of an Ingalls contract to build two new jack-up rigs for Keyes Offshore Inc. of Houston.

BARD TRILOGY

The rebroadcast of "Richard II" on "The Shakespeare Plays" marks the beginning of a trilogy to be presented on the series on the Mississippi ETV Network. First seen last season, "Richard II" can be seen again at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 19. "Richard II," "Henry IV" are closely related historically, and they will be presented in succession. Together, they cover a period spanning the years 1399-1415, which includes the deposition of King Richard by Bolingbroke (who became Henry IV) up to the British victory over the French at the Battle of Agincourt. This brief but turbulent period in English history is regarded as a crucial turning point for the nation—the vanguard of the 50-year civil war and the eventual creation of the Tudor dynasty.

LOST SEA RELICS

Captain Jacques-Yves Cousteau and his Calypso team search parts of the Mediterranean and the Caribbean for long-lost shipwrecks on the next "The Cousteau Odyssey" entitled "Lost Relics of the Sea." More than 1.5 million tons of merchant ships are claimed by the sea each year. Shipwrecks discovered by Cousteau and his divers are the French ship Theresa, lost off the northern coast of Crete during a battle in 1669; a disintegrated ship which was carrying a vast array of first century Roman jars.

FARMERS SEEK REFORMS

Nearly 200 Mississippi farm leaders were in Washington last week meeting with their elected representatives and seeking relief from a multitude of problems—the chief of which appeared to be government itself.

At a breakfast meeting with Senator Thad Cochran Wednesday at lawmaker asserted that "we have a crisis of confidence on the part of our government. We need some action by the government itself to show that it is competent to solve some of these problems."

The farm group indicated that their problems basically are the same as those of other Americans—mainly inflation and too much regulation—but they pointed out during their three day round of meetings with their representatives that since they do not set their prices for what they grow, inflation is sapping the profit out of modern agriculture.

Senator Cochran, affirming their beliefs, said that over-regulation by various government agencies has greatly added to the inflation spiral by costing each U.S. citizen $600 annually to pay for the regulatory role. He said he believes that several government reforms will help greatly in turning the economy around—such as requiring a balanced national budget and outlawing deficit spending beyond 21 percent of the nation's current gross national product.

Two means were advocated by Cochran for regulatory reform. One would call for regulations to be made a part of proposed bills so that Cochran for regulatory reform. One would call for regulations to be made a part of proposed bills so that Congress can vote on the final product. The other would be to require economic impact studies to accompany proposed bills whose regulations would create adverse economic effects.

The Mississippi farm group held breakfast meetings with each of their representatives. Only Senator John Stennis was unable to attend due to illness but sent aides to brief the group.

A group of 18 Mississippians representing lower delta counties attended a conference with General Hugh G. Robinson, head of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to discuss the floodwater pumping station project; and received assurances that the Corps was proceeding within the authority already given it by Congress with plans to install a 14,000 cubic feet per second pumping station to help lower the level of spring floodwaters in the Yazoo basin. Gen. Robinson told the Mississippians that governmental procedures they must follow would take from four to five years before relief would actually be achieved from the project.

B.F. Smith, executive secretary of the Delta Council, told the Corps chief that basin farmers felt the need for a pumping station of nearly twice a 14,000 cfs capacity, and Presidential aide Bill Simpson urged the Corps to study methods of short term flood relief in the Yazoo basin until the pumping project was completed.

Hugh Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, and J.R. Carter, federation vice president and president of the Delta Council, stayed in Washington to testify before a House Cotton Subcommittee in support of the research and promotion program of Cotton, Inc.

At a briefing at the U.S. Department of Agriculture the Mississippians were told by deputy secretary Jim Williams that farmers need to be concerned about the growth of soybean production in the world as he added that Russia's trade in soybeans is a relatively small thing when compared to the market offered by Japan.

Spring cleaning was family affair in the old days

By S. GRADY THIGPEN

On the first warm sunny days of spring back when I grew up 80 years ago at Lake Como in Jasper County, my mother would start her spring cleaning.

Spring cleaning was, long ago, an important event in most old time homes.

My Mother would select one room at a time and spend at least one day to thoroughly take care of that one room. The floors were thoroughly cleaned, the windows washed inside and out, the window shades mended and cleaned.

The mattresses would be carried outside and placed where the rays of the sun would shine on them for a whole day. The bed clothes, quilts, etc. would be placed in the sunlight too.

The walls and ceiling of the room would be swept down and cleaned. All the clothes of the occupants of that room would be hung in the sun light for a day to, as she would say, "To freshen them."

With that one room taken care of, she would move into the next one until she had cleaned the whole house.

Old time people had much knowledge not written down in books, knowledge that was handed down from mother to daughter and from father to son, knowledge that was the result of practical experience over the years.

I thought little about it when as a boy I helped my mother with her spring cleaning, but now in my old age I realize the importance of spring cleaning back in the old days.

The spirits of the people were lifted and people made to more enjoy living after the yearly spring cleaning time.

During the spring cleaning, old things, then useless and worn out things were gotten rid of. Things that needed repair were repaired, old calendars, magazines and newspapers were thrown out, any broken down things were either repaired or thrown away.

If there was painting to be done, the usual time for doing it was during the spring cleaning period.

During the spring cleaning time, the clothes and other things in the closets and drawers would be taken out, put in the sun and freshened up.

Sometime ago, I found an old suit of mine in the back part of the closet, that had been there for some time. When I pulled it out it smelled musty and felt unclean.

I carried it out and hung it so that both the morning and evening sun would shine on it. When in the late afternoon I brought the suit in it felt and smelled as if the rays of the sun had renewed its life.

Now I have never read any account of the healing power of the sun, but from my own experience from my childhood on down to now I've seen results that convince me that the old people knew much about using the power of the sun to help them in many ways with their problems.

There was a dark, damp, tree shaded swampy place in the rear of my home before Hurricane Camille came through.

There was green scum there and it was always wet and slimy looking. When the storm blew the trees down and the sun shone on this dreary place for a little while, there was a great change.

The scum was all gone and the grass that grew over other parts of the yard began to grow there. This one time swampy place was changed to make an attractive lawn.

Another thing I remember while the spring cleaning was going on is that my mother and other women in the community would put a thin layer of clean white sand on the kitchen and dining room floors.

As with things placed in the sun light, I never thought anything about the sand on the floor until many years later in 1960 when at the age of 70 I began calling on at least one old person 75 years old or older each week for material for a book I intended to publish.

I was impressed with the practical knowledge on many subjects these old people had. It was explained by more than one old person that the thin layer of sand on the floor when walked on for a time, would grind the dirt and grease off the wood floors, pretty much like sandpaper will clean a faulty soiled surface.

When the sand was swept off the floor after being on it for a time, the floor would look new and clean.

After the sand was removed I was told that the wood floors were scrubbed with mops made of corn shucks and home made soap. The old corn shuck mops were good cleaners.

When I made mention in a radio talk of corn shuck mops an old lady brought me one. The only kind of broom used in sweeping in homes in the old days was the old time broom sage broom. I had not seen one in maybe 60 years until recently I was in the home of an old man and saw one of the old time brooms in use.

The yard in the old days was also tidied up in the spring cleaning operation. The picket fence was repaired, decayed pickets were replaced, the baseboard—about 10 inches wide at the bottom of the fence—was surveyed to be sure chickens and pigs could not find an entry place into the yard or the garden.

The yard—there was no such thing as a lawn back then—was kept skinned of all weeds and grass by the use of hoes. It was swept clean regularly with a yard broom made of limbs from dogwood trees and tied together with tight strings. Down in South Mississippi mall berry bushes were often used for sweeping yards.

Spring cleaning time was a real busy time, often a hectic time, for everyone in the family, as the regular every day duties of all kinds had to be attended to as the spring cleaning was being done.

To add to the confusion of that time almost everyone in the home would complain of not being able to find everything in its regular place.

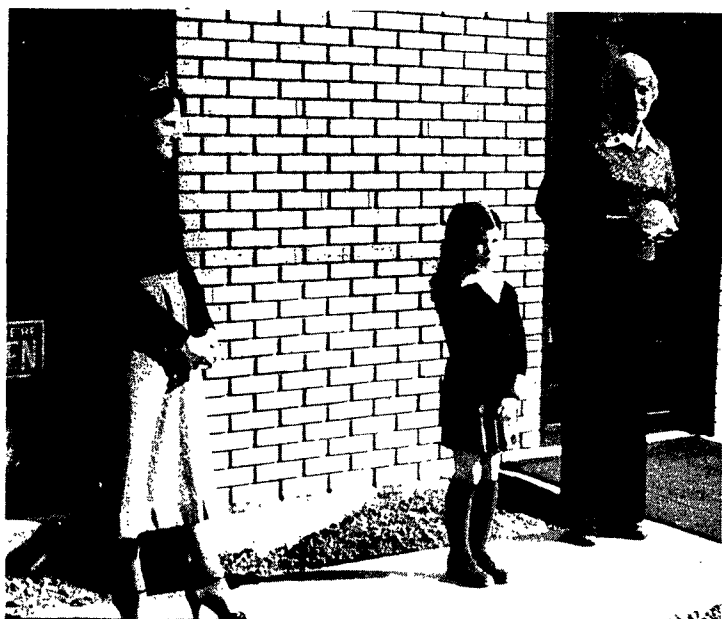

I remember that one time, my father could not find his small box of important papers in their regular place on the mantel in our parents room. When he missed his box, he yelled out, "Who hid my box of important papers?"

When I was a small boy I kept my treasures—a sling shot, my marbles, my barlow pocket knife and a few other items, hid on the back part of a shelf on a table in the room where the children slept.

My treasures disappeared during spring cleaning. I was distraught until my mother handed them to me enclosed in a paper bag where she had placed them when the table was cleaned up.

While it was pretty rough on us while going on, when spring cleaning was taking place, all the family were delighted at the new atmosphere in the home when it was over.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

STILL TIME TO TEST

It's too late to soil test and get the results back before planting. Consider these facts: About 33 percent of the state's cropland needs lime critically, 21 percent needs phosphate and 39 percent needs potash.

These figures are from more than 300,000 soil samples tested in the last five years by the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory. They represent 4.5 million acres of Mississippi cropland.

The only way a farmer can be sure his soil is not deficient in nutrients is to have it tested. The results will tell how much lime of fertilizer is needed for top yields and profit.

WHEAT MANAGEMENT

If you're growing wheat for grain, fertilize it by mid-March to keep it producing at the highest rate. Control garlic and wild onions with 2,4-D or mixtures of dicamba and 2,4-D.

Don't apply after plants have begun to joint. For disease control, apply fungicides in April and May. Contact the Extension Office for rates and other production information.

CONTROL SPRING WEEDS

Weeds will cause a poor grass stand in early spring lawns of bermuda, St.

Augustine, centipede and the mowing height one-half zoyia. To reduce these spring inch lower than the last weed problems, mow the leaves, prevent thatch buildup grass about mid-March. Set and promote better growth.

Caged rats fare better than wild ones

By H.P. JANS

Copley News Service

Q. I have two pet laboratory rats, white and brown. They have been in our classroom for six months. They were only a few months old when we got them. I am going to keep them at home, now that our experiments are finished.

How long can they live in an 18-inch-wide cage with a running wheel in it? Thank you for your answer. — E.C., Perris, Calif.

A. It is difficult to say how long your rats will live in the cage. They will probably live longer in the cage with adequate care than they would if released to the wild. Some rats have been known to live up to five or six years in household care.

A good diet and clean bedding are the important parts of the care.

Q. I have a black poodle about 15 inches tall. She was homeless for over a year, traveling the streets near my home. I can't tell you what a mess she was.

My landlady finally got her, took her for grooming and to a veterinarian for shots.

Now she bites herself and scratches day and night. I rub her with Sulfodene but nothing seems to help.

I am 79, no car, live alone and have a very bad heart.

Pope may 'draft' Jackie

By DICK MAURICE
Copley News Service

Vatican insiders report that the pope is planning to send JACKIE KENNEDY ONASSIS on a "special mission." Although the details are still unknown, it is believed that the former first lady will become a roaming goodwill ambassador for the Catholic Church.

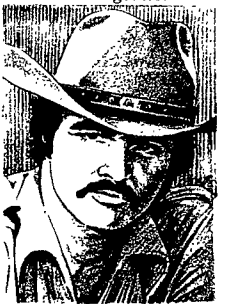

BETTE DAVIS
...once then a million
for Elvis' mansion

The queen of motion pictures, BETTE DAVIS, has moved to Hollywood and has told friends in Tinseltown that she will never marry again. Davis pointed out that she has never been able to find a man who could cope with her stardom.

As the star revealed to one intimate friend, "My biggest problem all my life was men. I'm meant for a man. I get very lonely at night and there is nothing glamorous about that. I always wanted to be married. I wanted a home, but I haven't had a real one since I was 7 years old."

On her past marriages, Davis was equally candid. "All of my marriages, except one, have been farces. I'm not happy in the single state. Woman and man were meant to be together."

BURT REYNOLDS
...more than a million
for Elvis' mansion

While everyone is purchasing souvenirs of ELVIS PRESLEY memorabilia, actor BURT REYNOLDS is doing it in a big way. Burt has just put down more than a million dollars for the late King of Rock 'n' Roll's chic Hollywood estate.

Because of high production costs totaling more than $500,000 a week, producers of the hit television show, "Vegas," are considering moving it back to Hollywood because they are upset with the money that they had to spend on accommodations and travel costs for guest stars, cast and crew. Plans call for the show to be done in Hollywood with only some minor exterior shots actually being shot in Las Vegas.

Anyone who makes $40,000 a week has to admit it's the closest thing to being in heaven. After all, those big bucks can buy lots of paradise.

However, JACLYN SMITH may quit "Charlie's Angels" at the end of this season. Friends say her decision may be because her husband has been extremely upset over the fact that she is really the breadwinner in the family. This frustration has made Jaclyn's home life anything but heaven.

How secure is the marriage when all of her money made from her acting career has been put into a special investment fund which her husband is not allowed to touch?

The South may never be the same again after the $6 Million Man showed up at the inauguration of Kentucky Gov. JAMES BROWN. It seems that LEE MAJORS had too much moonshine before he arrived for the festive ceremonies. Guess he figured he'd start celebrating early.

DONNY MOST, one of the stars of television's "Happy Days," may decide to give up his $10,000-a-week salary on the ABC-TV show because he is unhappy with the way the producers and the writers have been treating him as an actor. He is fed up with just a few lines on the show and his days have been anything but happy at the studio.

It has just been learned that Olympia Beer, who has helped to raise over $2.3 million for the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, has decided to pull out and won't help JERRY LEWIS help his kids.

Jerry, who goes for days without sleep and during the telethon has even suffered from extreme exhaustion, happened to make an ad-lib, off-the-cuff comment during last year's show. Lewis jokingly remarked, "Budweiser is the best beer."

Olympia executives were offended and decided to pull out of the telethon.

ETV presents 'sports in America'

BLACK ATHLETES

A study of athletic participation by blacks, women and children is the basis of a new, three-part mini-series to be presented as part of "James Michener's World" on the Mississippi ETV Network. The three specials in "Sports in America" can be seen monthly, beginning at 8 p.m., Monday, March 17, with "The Black Athlete." In "The Black Athlete," Michener focuses on the changing role of blacks in sports and raises questions about the status of black people in American culture, juxtaposing early racism with its more subtle forms today. Michener shows viewers historic footage of such early pioneers as heavyweight champions Jack Johnson and Joe Louis and interviews such contemporary heroes as foot ball's O.J. Simpson and boxing champion Muhammad Ali. He talks to golf's Lee Elder and tennis pro Arthur Ashe on the socio-economic reasons that blacks have not become prominent in the sports that "each represents." Michener also looks into the sensitive subject of black superstars as role models for black youth while raising the question of whether too much emphasis and pressure are placed on blacks to become athletes when other fields of endeavor are virtually ignored. Pulitzer Prize-winning James Michener says he feels he owes his very life to sports. When he was a youth, basketball kept him from becoming a juvenile delinquent and led to his entry into college on athletic scholarship. Later in life, vigorous activity kept him fit after a serious heart attack.

Yam and Chicken Casserole Makes a Hearty One-Dish Meal

Creating mealtime variety is never a problem with fresh seasonal foods. And right now, golden yams from North Carolina are in the markets.

According to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, yams are not only a good buy, they're also nutritious. One medium-sized sweetpotato provides more than twice the vitamin A needed, is an excellent source of vitamin C, and has a good supply of iron, thiamine, and fiber. Choose yams with smooth, unscarred skins, firm texture and a clean, bright appearance.

Yam and Chicken Casserole is a hot and hearty one-dish meal. The yams, chicken and seasonings all bake together in a special orange-ginger sauce to make a surprisingly simple, yet unusually flavorful dish.

YAM AND CHICKEN CASSEROLE

4 medium-sized yams
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1 chicken (about 2½ pounds)
quartered
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
1 green pepper, cut into strips
1 cup fresh orange juice
2 tablespoons dry sherry (optional)
1 chicken bouillon cube
¼ teaspoon ginger

Cook yams in covered saucepan in small amount boiling water 5 minutes. Drain. Pare when cool enough to handle. Cut yams in half lengthwise; set aside. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat chicken with flour mixture. Melt butter or margarine in oven-proof casserole. Brown chicken on all sides. Remove chicken from casserole. Add onion and green pepper to drippings in casserole. Sauté 5 minutes. Stir in orange juice, sherry, bouillon cube and ginger. Blend well. Arrange chicken and yams in casserole. Cover and bake in 350°F. oven about 1 hour. Makes 4 servings.

Handicapped program seeks swimming pool

TSP POSTER CHILD — Samantha Bordages, 4, daughter of Lionel and Dianne Bordages of Lakeshore, is the 1980 poster girl for Therapy Swimming Program, Inc., a Hancock County group which teaches handicapped persons how to swim. The program, which has proved therapeutic both physically and emotionally for participants, will run from June 16 through August 16. A fund-raising festival is planned June 7 and 8. (Photo by Bob Hubbard)

Therapy Swimming Program, Inc. (TSP) is currently seeking a swimming pool in the Bay-Waveland area to use in its summer swimming program for the handicapped.

Classes will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays beginning June 16 and continuing through Aug. 16.

TSP will carry insurance on participants in the summer swimming program, according to Debbie Anselmo of Waveland, TSP president.

Certified adapted aquatics instructors, Anselmo and Diane Bordages, both will provide aquatic lessons.

Certified adapted aquatics aides will provide a one-to-one student-instructor ratio, she noted.

Special education teachers Sherry Ponder, Jeannel Griffin and Candy Murphy will also serve as aides this summer, Anselmo said.

Life guards will be on duty at all times during classes, Ms. Anselmo continued.

The organization is also sponsoring a festival June 7 and 8 at the Waveland Civic Center.

Proceeds from the Festival will go to support the swimming program this summer. In addition a portion of the funds will be earmarked for a new therapeutic pool now being planned for year round use, Anselmo reported.

Deadline for sponsoring a booth is May 30.

Letters have been sent to some groups and clubs seeking help in organizing and working the festival, she said.

"We asked if they would sponsor a booth or donate money or prizes. Any interested groups or persons wanting to help with this project, please call 467-8269 or 467-1506 or write to TSP Inc., P.O. Box 435, Waveland, 39576," Anselmo said.

"We would be happy to send a representative of TSP to any meeting to discuss our program," she noted.

Adapted aquatics aide classes for persons interested in helping handicapped students learn to swim are set for May 16 and 17.

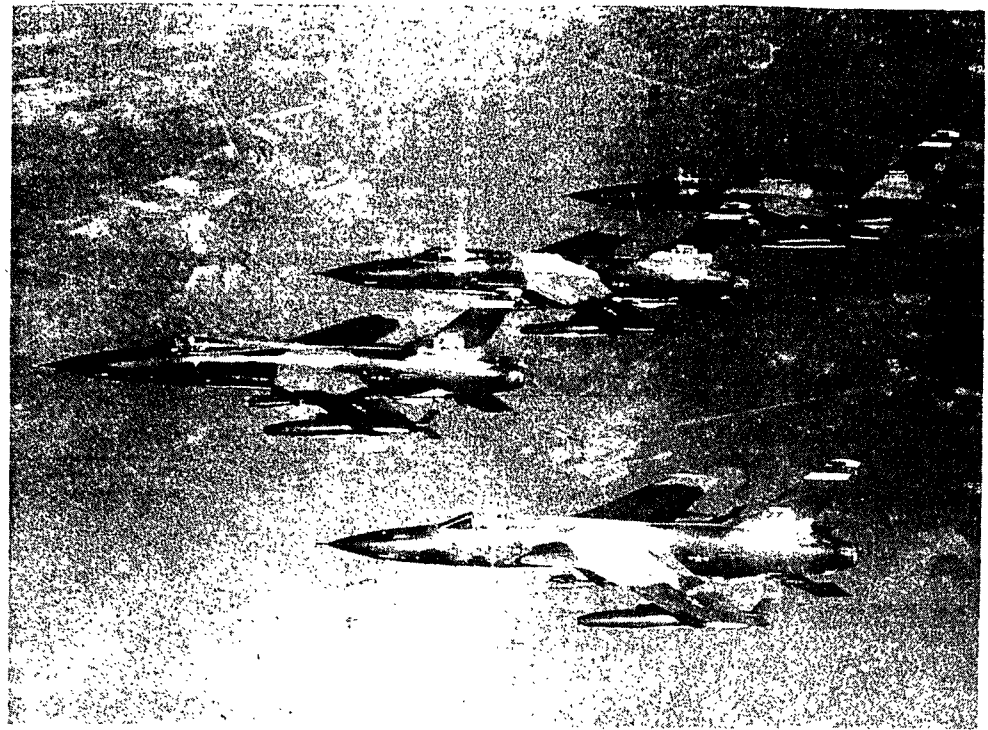

"This class will be a requirement for aides this year," Anselmo said, adding "Red Cross certificates will be given for completion of the six hour course."

Gerald Mack of Baton Rouge, Red Cross and YMCA Water Instructor, will serve as instructor for the aides course.

A special meeting is scheduled at 7 p.m. April at Gulf National Bank to seek cooperation of interested members in the community—parents, teachers, senior citizens.

"We will form a special Aquatics Planning Council composed of volunteers, special ed teachers, students 15 and up, and interested members of our community which will assist our board of directors in future activities of TSP," Ms. Anselmo reported.

"Anyone 15 years and older interested in being a lifeguard or an adapted aquatics aid or instructor, please call 467-8269 for more information on courses this year," she added.

THUNDERCHIEFS OVER THE COAST—Some 450 officers and airmen of the Virginia Air National Guard's 192nd Tactical Fighter Group arrived Saturday for two weeks of annual field training at the Gulfport Air National Guard Training Site.

Enroute to Gulfport, "F-105" "Thunderchiefs" were refueled in the air over South Carolina and performed an air to ground training mission at the Camp Shelby Gunnery Range prior to landing at Gulfport. (Photo Courtesy Va-ANG)

Handicapped Awareness Day set at UNO

A "Handicap Awareness Day" will be held at the University of New Orleans from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Wednesday, March 19, to provide information on what it means to be physically handicapped.

The program will include an agency fair in the ballroom of the UNO University Center featuring informative displays by the various agencies which provide services to the handicapped.

Corinne Barnwell, intergroup and anti-discrimination coordinator, Community Services staff, Division of Human Resources, Office of the Mayor, New Orleans, will begin the program at 11 a.m. with a discussion on the rights of the handicapped.

Other activities will include "Wacky Wednesday" contests in which able-bodied UNO students will run relay races while blindfolded, in wheelchairs and on crutches, and a Wheelchair Treasure Hunt in which able-bodied representatives from the UNO administration, faculty, staff and student body will participate in wheelchairs.

The hunt, which will begin at 1 p.m. outside the University Center, will take participants to four different locations on the campus that are difficult for a person in a wheelchair to reach.

The "Wacky Wednesday" contests will begin at noon in the University Center lobby. According to Ellen Levitov, UNO counselor and program coordinator, the purpose of the day-long activities is to demonstrate the capabilities, challenges and frustrations of the handicapped.

The program, which is being co-sponsored by the UNO Junior Division Counseling Center and Student Activities Board, is free and open to the public.

Employ older workers theme of observance

National Employ the Older Worker Week will be observed March 9-15 according to Harold M. Hooper, manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service in Gulfport.

Since 1959, the Mississippi Job Service has participated in this observance sponsored annually by the American Legion to promote employment of aging veterans and other older workers.

"Our offices give year-round assistance to the middle-aged and older job-seekers," said Edgar C. Lloyd Jr., executive director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

"This special week is set aside to remind employers of the work-related skills and the maturity to be found among unemployed and underemployed older workers," he said.

Hooper said that studies done on workers 45 and older indicate that they have better safety records, lower absentee rates, and greater accomplishments in production than others.

"We offer more than placement service to older job applicants," he said, "We give aptitude and proficiency tests, and there are counselors available to give assistance with particular occupational problems."

The Job Service office can also aid elderly citizens to find appropriate public, private or volunteer agencies providing needed services.

Hooper urges employers to consider the advantages of mature workers when a job opening occurs and discuss it with a Job Service employment interviewer located in Bay St. Louis at Valena C. Jones Building, Telephone 467-9572.

Sew and Sew members show skills

The Sew and Sew Club met Thursday afternoon, February 14, in the home of Mrs. Lloyd McLaughlin with Mrs. Earl Gates offering the opening prayer and Mrs. Alice Barre, president, conducting the business session.

Crochet items and a quilt top made by members were displayed. A Valentine theme decorated the refreshment table for the social hour following the meeting.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 13, in the home of Mrs. A. C. Mer-

Norway highlighted for business women

A slide program on Norway was the highlight of the joint meeting of the Picaune-Bay-Waveland Business and Professional Women's Clubs February 24 at Diamondhead to celebrate International Week.

Following a buffet luncheon attended by 35 members and guests, Mrs. Peggy Garrison introduced Mrs. Kirstin Gotthardt, who presented many interesting facts about Norway, a country of 4 million populated and the world's highest standard of living.

The country is thinly populated with much room for recreation, including skiing, which originated in the country.

While there are no kindergartens, they maintain "outdoor nurseries", where pre-school children play outside in all types of weather. Children are taught to ski at two years of age.

Mrs. Gotthardt was dressed in the traditional Norwegian dress of dark blue embroidered wool vest and skirt, with matching cap and white blouse.

She had completed business school in Norway, learned English, and was employed in Washington, D.C. at the Norwegian Embassy when she met her husband, Jerry, an oceanographer, now stationed at NSTL. They returned to Norway for the traditional wedding ceremony.

Lieutenant Amr Elansary of the Egyptian Navy, who is an exchange student at NSTL, gave some interesting facts about Egypt and answered questions posed by the audience.

Lt. Elansary is studying hydrographic surveying at the Naval Oceanographic Office, where he will be stationed another year. He stated that each male in Egypt is required to give at least one year in the military service.

Lt. Elansary was introduced by Jo Ann Wiggin, member of the Bay-Waveland club.

Mrs. Jane Baumgartner, president of Bay-Waveland, presided at the meeting and introduced special guests, Gale Graham of Pascagoula and Sue Wiggins of Bay-Waveland, the Young Careerists.

Kathryn Ball, chairman of the State Convention, spoke briefly on the plans for the convention to be held at the Biloxi Hilton in June 1980. (Submitted by: Juanita Gex, Picaune)

ETV Brief

SATCHMO

Public television presents a two-hour portrait of Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong at 8 p.m., Monday, March 10, on the Mississippi ETV Network. "Satchmo" can be seen on ETV channels as part of Festival '80, three weeks of special programming designed to increase viewer awareness of public television. Lucille Armstrong, the musician's widow, served as creative consultant to the production. The major voice telling the story will be that of Satchmo himself. The narrative thread to the program emerges from recording and interviews in which Armstrong tells his own story. The program covers much historical material from his beginning in New Orleans, his Chicago days, his world tours and his work in film and television. In areas in which film material is unavailable, the program makes full use of Mrs. Armstrong's contributions, both personal and material. During the filming of the MGM musical "High Society" in 1956, Armstrong elaborated on the distinction between "hot jazz" and "cool jazz": "It's all in the lips, man. Hot can be hot, and cool can be hot. Sometimes hot is cool, and cool is or both. But hot or cool, jazz is jazz."

CLASS OF 1929—Over 50 years ago eight students graduated from the Kiln Vocational High School on May 3, 1929. The school was located on the Kiln-Delisle Road where the Kiln Consolidated School was built which now houses Kiln Ammanation School. Posing for their class photograph, standing from left, are Valley Mitchell and Herbert Brown, both from the Catohoula Community; Edna Mae Pipkin, a teacher from Kiln (now Mrs. Alphonse Dublson); Oren Seal of Catohoula; and Carl Cameron and Elita Johnston (Mrs. Clarence Batey) of Kiln. Seated, from left, are Nell Burke, Effie Necaise (now Mazarakis), and Margaret Dandridge all of Kiln. According to Oren Seal, deceased class members are Mr. Brown, Ms. Cameron and Mrs. Batey. Diamondhead News

French Market coffee, beignets, cash bar, Dixieland Jazz, and fun at the Jazz Brunch are planned today at the country club. Reservations are required. Phone 255-1421, ext. 6241.

The DMGA monthly tournament will be Saturday, March 15. Register at the pro shop or call Cliff Russell.

Mary McDonnell won the ladies' weekly tennis tourney and Gladys Stevenson placed second. The St. Patrick's Day tourney will start at 9:30 a.m. March 14.

All entrants must be attired in green.

Bob Bond presided over the regular monthly meeting of the DVFD Tuesday night at the new fire station. Eva Bond gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Sylvia Pross and Herb Garner was secretary.

Eva Bond asked for volunteers to act as block captains for the new personal contact plan. The block captain will be responsible for contacting residents in that area in emergencies or other needs.

Lee Peterson reported on the progress of the "White Elephant" sale at the fire station March 8 and 9 and the need for men to assist in the sale.

There was a national tornado alert on March 6 and there will be an atomic bomb drill on March 12. Residents are requested to notify the fire department if the siren alert is not heard.

There will be Gulf Coast emergency medical service training course funded by the federal government to advance personnel to the required levels.

The Diamondhead Volunteer Fire Department logged a total of 616 hours of work in February and made 35 responses of which 15 were for fire, 10 for rescue and 10 for service. A total of 932 hours of actual work included 43 hours and 55 minutes of fire fighting.

The family of Ben Peery requested that memorials be sent to the fire department or to the heart fund. Ben will be sorely missed by all.

Dennis Lacey is at home recuperating from a heart problem and we all join Dittie in heartfelt relief.

The Newcomers luncheon will be 11:30 a.m. March 14 at the country club and will feature the St. Stanislaus choir and pottery fabrication by Brother Hilbert.

The DMGA weekly tourney was won by the foursome comprised of Ed Westlake, Bob Schutt, Herman Makofsky and Arno Leshin.

W.D. Cunningham took first place in individual scoring, R. B. Hardin second, Arno Leshin and Bill Eiserloh tied for third, Bob Schutt and Ed Depys tied for fifth and Jack Chown, Herman Makofsky and Austin Price tied for seventh.

Diamondhead Ladies' Tennis Association invites new members to meet with them on every Friday at 9:30 a.m. Dues are $12 per year.

Pick up your 1980 windshield and ID card stickers at the sales lodge or through Customer's Service. Security requires current identification.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Notice is hereby given of a public hearing on the Section 504 Transition Plan for the Mississippi Coast Transportation Authority. The purpose of the hearing is to discuss methods of making the city bus more accessible to elderly and handicapped people.

Public hearing is being held by the Gulf Regional Planning Commission for the city of Bay St. Louis at City Library, Highway 90 on March 20, 1980 at 6:30 p.m. Persons and organizations wishing to make statements are invited to attend. Written comments will be included in the public record if they are received by GRPC no later than March 31st.

MOORE & POWELL
January 29, 1980
Honorable Mayor and Councilmen
City of Bay St. Louis,
Mississippi
Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520

We have examined the financial statements of the various funds and the general long term debt group of accounts of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1979, listed in the foregoing table of contents. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements of the City of Bay St. Louis, Utility Systems for the year ended September 30, 1979, have not been included in the accompanying financial report. However, we have examined the City of Bay St. Louis Utility Systems financial statements and have issued our report under a separate cover.

The City has not maintained a record of its general fixed assets and accordingly a statement of general fixed assets, required by generally accepted accounting principles, is not included in the financial report.

A substantial portion of the revenues derived from court fines and fees consists of collections by the presiding judge and the police department. It was not practicable to satisfy ourselves with respect to such revenues beyond the amount recorded as deposited.

In our opinion except for the effects, if any, of the matter discussed in the preceding paragraph, the financial statements listed in the foregoing table of contents present fairly the financial position of such funds and the general long term debt group of accounts of the City of Bay St. Louis at September 30, 1979, and the results of operations of such funds for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The accompanying other supplemental information is not necessary for a fair presentation of the financial statements, but is presented as additional and analytical data. The supplemental information has been subjected to the tests and other auditing procedures applied in the examination of the financial statements taken as a whole except that the statements of cash receipts and disbursements (Schedule 4 and 5) are not intended to reflect financial position or results of operations.

Published by order of the City Council dated February 20, 1980.
